Wind Certified Roll-up Doors

If you live in an area with high winds, you should consider a wind-certified roll-up door from Mueller. At our in-house testing facility, these doors were proven to withstand winds up to 120 mph. Our test generated a force of 37 pounds per square foot, which is equivalent to 120 mph wind.

Insulation

R-Values represent resistance to conductive heat transfer but don’t measure a product’s ability to reflect radiant heat transfer. Over 75% of a building’s heat loss or gain is through radiation. Mueller can supply you with insulation, patching tape and net wire to give you more energy efficiency.

Walk Doors

Walk doors can use standard, premium, heavy-duty lever locksets or panic hardware. Weatherstrip kits are recommended to give you a tighter fit and reduced air leakage and dust. You can order complete door kits, which include the door, frame kit and standard lockset. Doors are 20-gauge steel with a polystyrene core, and frames are 16-gauge steel. Roofing Accessories

1. PEAK SHEET OR RIDGE ROLL. This trim will be found anywhere two rising roof surfaces meet, such as the ridge, a hip, or the top of a dormer.
2. RAKE OR GABLE TRIM. This trim is found anywhere a sloping edge ends, such as the end of a gable or the end of a dormer.
3. GUTTER OR EAVE TRIM. Eave trim is installed on the lowest edge of the roof. Its main purpose is to give a finished look to the roof. If gutters are requested, they would be installed in place of eave trim.
4. DOWNSPOUT. Downspouts are used when gutters are installed. They drain water from the gutters to the ground.
5. WALL TO ROOF TRANSITION. Any time a vertical wall surface meets another roof surface, transition trim is required in order to keep water from getting underneath the roof panels.
6. VALLEY FLASHING. Valley trim is required anywhere two roof surfaces meet to form a valley. Valley trim is installed underneath the roof panels to help guide water and keep it from getting under the panels.
7. TRANSITION TRIM. Any time a roof is sloping in one direction, and that slope changes, transition trim is required. It is used to keep water from getting under the roof panels.

OIL CANNING REDUCTION TRIM

A wavy appearance — called “oil canning” — often occurs in the flat areas of formed metal products, such as metal roofs. Oil canning doesn’t compromise the structural integrity of the metal – it’s simply an aesthetic issue, and sometimes affects Mueller’s CF and AP Panels. You can greatly minimize this effect with Mueller’s Easy-Install Metal Strips (for CF Panels) or Foam Strips (for AP Panels). It’s just one more example of Mueller going the extra mile to keep your roof looking great.

UNDERLAYMENT TITANIUM-UDL™

Advanced polymers are combined to deliver a unique synthetic roofing underlayment that can be used under all types of primary roofing materials to replace felt. Gray technology provides reflectivity for a cooler roof, and the best UV exposure properties (6 months) in the marketplace.

STORAGE POLICY: Because of limited storage space, Mueller, Inc. will store custom fabricated material only for a reasonable amount of time. After this, notice will be sent that material must be either picked up or delivered within 10 days, or it will be placed in stock with the deposit forfeited and/or a restocking charge imposed.

SHIPPING: Mueller, Inc. will make every effort to meet requested shipping dates; however, Mueller, Inc. assumes no responsibility for or loss of any kind sustained by customer because of any unforeseen inability to meet shipping dates. Please allow as much shipping time as possible.

TELEPHONE ORDERS: Customer assumes full responsibility for the accuracy of telephone orders if written confirmation is not received prior to release of the order for manufacturing. Customer may request a written confirmation, with the understanding that the manufacturing process will be delayed.

DELIVERY OPTIONS: Mueller, Inc. offers two delivery options:

1. A direct delivery is the option that provides the most accurate, convenient service. Orders will be delivered on a Mueller truck and the exact delivery day can be scheduled in advance.
